RUSHVILLE, IND. THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 1, 1907.

Single Copies, 2 Cents.

COMPLEXION IS NOW CHANGED

Change Made in Personnel of the Rushville School Board.

JANITORS ARE APPOINTED

And List of Teachers For Coming Season Will Soon be Announced.

The last meeting of the old School Board was held last night, and beginning at midnight, the personnel and political complexion of the board was changed, when A. O. Brown (Republican) succeeded W. M. McBride (Democrat) as a member of the new board for the next three years.

On the new board is E. B. Thomas, (Rep.), A. R. Holden (Dem.) and A.
O. Brown (Rep.). An organization will be effected within the next five days, according to the law and it is possible and probable that the announcement of the names of the teachers for the coming term in the city schools of Rushville will be made at the first meeting of the board.

Last night, the board apportioned the insurance on the new building, and transacted a deal of closing routine business.

Edward Billings was elected janitor of the Jackson school building; John Kirkpatrick assigned to the new Gram-ham school building and Dan Spivey re-appointed to the janitorship of the Havens building. A social half hour was spent at the close of the meeting, and refreshments served, the honors being done by Prof. J. H. Scholl.

MUST NOT KISS FRIENDS GOOD-BY

At Pennsylvania Railroad Station New Order Issued by Authorities of Road.

Although hard hearted as it may seem, the Pennsylvania has issued an edict against the long drawn out, sloberly sort of osculation, generally practiced in its stations before the departure of trains. Not only this manner of kissing will be tabooed by the officials, but all other manner of kissing. People leaving their friends at the stations will have to be content with a little bird like peck and that given with the hand hereafter. The exact reason for the Pennsylvania taking such a step is not known.

WILL HOLD AN OPEN DISCUSSION

Zetophotonians Will Ramble on the Green and Drink Buttermilk

The Zetophotonian Debating society will meet in regular session at their club rooms over Poe's jewelry store tonight, when arrangements will be made to spend an evening with A. C.
Haskett at his country home in Mauzy, where a debate on the lawn will be indulged in. All questions will be "open" for discussion in the open air, and a crock of buttermilk (Fairbanks' brand) will grace the speaker's table.

Bedouin warriors are noted for the spirit of their steeds. They are the cruellest people known to civilization,

HIT THE HIGH PLACES

Run Made in Auto Was a Record Breaker.

Greensburg News: Everett Arbuckle and Charlie Dalmberg made a record breaking run between this city and Rushville Wednesday in a Buick, five passenger, two cylinder car. The run up there was made in forty-five minutes and of this distance six miles was made in an even ten minutes.
This, we believe, is the best time that has yet been made between our sister city by any enthusiastic motorist.

PLANS MADE FOR UNION MEETING

Which Will be Held on North Entrance of Court House Sunday Night.

The committee in charge of the union services of the Young Peoples Societies of the churches in this city, held a meeting at the St. Paul's M.
E. church last night, and made plans for the meeting which will be held on the north entrance of the court house. The meeting will begin at 6:15 p. m. James Lock will act as leader, and Orion Holmes will have charge of the music. The subject will be, "The Consecration of Our Bodies," or "Desiring Righteousness." Many members of the different societies will deliver short talks.

MRS. M'CANN DIED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Wife of Marion McCann Dies of Cancers, Funeral Will be Held Friday,

Mrs. Marion McCann, aged 43 years, died at her home at the corner of Fifth and Jackson streets, Wednesday night at eight o'clock, of cancer.
She had suffered intensely from the disease for many weeks and her death had been momentarily expected.

She was the wife of Marion Mc-Cann, a well known resident of this city. During her life she was an active Christian worker, being a member of the Main Street Christian church, of this city. The funeral services will be held at the Christian church Friday afternoon at two o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. R. W. Abberly, and the Rev. W. W. Sniff, former pastor of the congregation. Friends can call at the house to view the remains.

Policeman Does Not Lead "Simple Life"

You can not accuse Policeman
"Bill" Pea of leading the "Simple Life." He had a greater task on his hands Wednesday than he would have had in running Wall street—that is running it into the ground. At one time Wednesday afternoon he had an insane woman at the Big Four railway station ready to ship out, and another suspicious character awaiting an outgoing passenger on the Pennsylvania. Both trains arrive about the same time, and Bill loaded his passengers on the trains with difficulty. But this is not all, for while awaiting the arrival of the two trains, he killed all the stray dogs in the "West End" and this was a great task in itself.

Sweedish school children, under the guidance of their teachers, annually plant 600,000 trees.

The women of Sumatra wear costly dresses, many of them being made of pure gold and silver. After the metal is mined and smelted, it is formed into a fine wire, which is woven into cloth and afterward used for dresses.

Exodus of Rushville Workmen

ABOUT FORTY LEAVE THIS CITY. "WHY IS THIS THUSLY?"

The old crowd that formerly did the "rail bird stunt" on the curbing around the court house is no more.
The ones that formerly swung on the awning ropes in front of the various places of business and carved their initials on the dry goods boxes have shook the dust of old Rusville from their feet. These facts are not to be considered lightly for they have a bearing on local conditions that is worth a deal of consideration.

Within the last three days there has been an exodus of over forty laborers —residents of this city—to the thriving city of New Castle. Just think of that—forty men leaving the city within three days. It would be a task to muster that many men under a pressure of patriotism if war was declared and soldiers were needed at the front.

The fact that such a large number of men left Rushville to secure employment elsewhere carries with it a forcible moral. To use the words of Horace Greeley, "one asks 'Why is this thusly?' True, men can find employment here at manual labor, but other and more progressive cities are offering higher wages, in more pleasant pursuits.

Rushville is a city beautiful, with long stretches of cement sidewalks and rows of giant maples on either side of the many streets, whose boughs kiss each other, giving us long peristyles of blessed shade during the heat of the summer; it is a good place to live in, and it is a good community in which to die. But commercially, there is a spoke loose in the wheel of progress, and there are no soft pads on which to protect our shoulders in putting them to the wheel. In this respect Rushville is as well off as many other of the smaller cities, which have not experienced a commercial awakening, but that is no excuse for us in standing still.

It is not the intention of the writer to be pessimistic in this, far from it, for we all realize that there is to be better and brighter times in the future—in the near future—for we appreciate that we have every natural advantage. But why do it not now?

To get right down to the rock bed and gut-fat of the question, we must first preach and have harmony. Harmony first and foremost among the business men, and afterwards among all the citizens. We must learn to speak well of one another; assist each other in our business undertakings, and ever have a good word and a "boost" for the old "burg." Then a certain degree of liberality must mark every move made to better our commercial conditions. Not to swing far out in a boom, and then "let the cat die," but move along in a good substantial, conservative way—but move—and not fall off into a comatose state, allowing a stagnation in business affairs to arise. Keep moving. Keep "boosting."

SPOKE AT BETHONY PARK Reform Not a Tirade Against Money, But a Sentiment
For Equity.

A dispatch from Bethany Park in the Indianapolis Star today says:

The feature of today's program at Bethany was the address of Congressman James E. Watson delivered at 11 o'clock this morning in the tabernacle before a large audience. He took for his subject "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man."

"I believe," said the speaker, "that all through history runs one divine purpose. This purpose is the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. For long ages inklings of this idea are to be found. Charles Martel battled to uphold it, but no country succeeded in embodying it in its constitutions until America came to the front and declared that all men were equal."

In speaking of the reform measures instituted in this country Mr. Watson said: "The reform movement is not against wealth, but against the abuses of wealth. Wealth is a necessity.
Wealth builds railroads, shops, factories, operates mines and furnishes labor.
It is not a tirade against wealth, but a well defined and determined sentiment that great combinations and interests shall not override American rights. It is not the government's place to right these wrongs directly, but through the higher education of its people. I believe in the idea that the less we are governed the better we are governed. If the States would do their duty and pass the proper measures there would be no necessity of such concentration of power in Congress.
The great lack of the American people is individual integrity and personal honor."

Indianapolis Sun, August 1st:
"Rev. Father James L. Carrioco, of the Holy Angels church, is confined to his bed on account of an injury received last Thursday while carrying a sack of lime to the new school building that is under construction. Father Carrioco was greatly interested in having the school building erected by September 1st, and had been superintending its erection."

Sewed up His Pink Pajamas

Shame on you, children; Naughty! naughty. To treat an elderly couple in the manner you did,—honestly you deserve to have the ugliest valentines sent to you next year that ever "wuz." Didn't "you all" hear about it?

Yesterday Miss Ella Ross, aged fifty years and Mr. James Personett, aged sixty-five years, came to this city from Richmond and were married at the home of a friend here. To them the marriage was a sacred matter, but soon after the ceremony the sacredness of the affair was treated in a sacri-ligious manner by "their friends and admirers" here. One thing is sure, they can not say that they were not given due attention.

While the couple were making ready to leave on their honeymoon, a group of children (men and women who were children in spirit, but of larger growth) stole into the room wherein the aged bridegroom had his "keester" (telescope) containing his going-away clothes, and, after breaking into the mammoth and fat looking grip, took out his clothes—yes, every article—and sewed up the sleeves of his "nightie" and all the openings in a suit of pink and white striped pajamas; tied hard knots in every piece of clothing, handkerchief, belt and every blamed thing in the grip, and poured water on the knots to make them all the more secure.
"It was a shame to take the advantage."

And last night—Ah! say, can't you picture the poor old fellow sitting on the edge of the bed in the boudoir of the bridal chambers of a hot hotel, wrestling with a pair of pajamas, trying to right matters, and untie the knots without saying naughty things and showing to his blushing bride, his temper. And imagine his chagrin, when on looking further in the goingaway grip, to find a paper sack where he had carefully laid an embroidered night cap with his initial done in red floss. It's outrageous. The man being past sixty-five years of age was in no condition to have such straws thrown in his path on his wedding day on account of his feeble condition.

It may be all right to play such pranks on younger people, but let us respect old age and pink pajamas—the fairest handiwork of milady, the stitcher. Here's condolence, uncle.

CONTRACTORS LOST

When Running Horse Dashed Into Sewer Tile.

A runaway on North Main street which became frightened at an automobile, played havoc with the large tile to be used in the sewers. North of the O. H. & D. railroad, the horse dashed into a stretch of tile, breaking quite a number of them.

WHEAT GRADES UP VERY POOR

Showing a Loss of One Quarter to One Third of the Crop

WAS CUT BEFORE RIPENED
And Many Farmers Threshed
Wheat That Was Damp—
Prepared for Loss.

The wheat crop in Rush county is not coming up to the standard of former years, and few farmers are heard boasting of an enormous yield this season.

The partial crop failure is due to the continued rain, and as one elevator man expressed it today, "They cut their wheat before it was ripe." At one elevator yesterday 100 loads were received, and the wheat that came in late and that which is coming in today is reported much better.
Many hundreds of dollars were lost by the farmers this season in having their wheat threshed when it was yet damp.

The wheat on a whole is grading up poorly, and will show a loss of from one fourth to one-third the usual crop.
But the farmers have had over "ten years of feast" and can well stand the slight financial loss this year.

FIRST TIME IN SIXTY-FOUR YEARS

Will be the White Water Baptist Association to be Held Here.

The Ninety-eighth Annual Session of the White Water Regular Baptist Association will meet with the Big Flatrock Regular Baptist church at Rushville, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 9th, 10th and 11th.
The sessions proper will be held at the jair grounds commencing Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Night meetings will be held at the Morgan Street Baptist church and many able preachers are expected here for the occasion.
It has been sixty-four years since the association was held with this church.
The public is cordially invited to attend the meetings.

TIMBER BROUGHT $1,900

George Reeves Sells 10 Acres of White Oak.

George Reeves sold the timber on ten acres of his farm yesterday for $1800. The timber was sold after a number of prominent lumber men filed sealed bids, and W. and W. Krauer, of Richmond, Indiana, being the highest bidders, secured the timber.
The trees were white oak.

WILL AGAIN BREAK OUR SOLEMN VOWS

Declare Each Year to be the Last One for Attending Circuses.

Rushville is fortunate in the way of amusements this summer and now is to get the Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace Shows Combined on Saturday, August 3d.

These shows have been recognized as among the best in the country and their union forms what is said to be the grandest circus alliance in the history of the world. There is no disputing the reception which has been given the show in New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit and other cities and it is thought the the Ochago engagement next month will establish her records in the windy city.

The Hagerbeck show alone went into Chicago last summer and did the most wonderful business ever done there by a circus. Not alone that, but the newspapers said it was a better show than the circuses which had been in the habit of appearing there. The Hagenbeck show was equally well received in Indianapolis. If the Hagenbeck show alone was received so well the enthusiasm with which the consolidated shows will be received in Indianapolis and Chicago this summer will be a ten days sensation.

Every report which precedes the show speaks extravagantly of the united shows. A traveling man says it is "the best show on the road." A business man who saw it at Muncie early in the season says the "street parade is better than the performance of other shows." A local man who witnessed the performance at Grand Rapids Monday says "everything new and everything good."

Naturally these favorable reports have awakened much interest here and it looks like a record breaking circus crowd would greet Hagenbeck & Wallace on Saturday, August 3d.

DICK'S HORSE CAME HOME ON THE BIT

Got the Kale-o-Mazoo in a Big Stake Race—Wilson,
That's all.

Dick Wilson won the $2000 2:10 pacing stake race at Kalamazoo, Mich., yesterday with "Aileen Wilson," the fast little Rushville mare. He finished seventh and fifth in the first two heats, neither one of them being better than 2:08, and came back winning the next three heats easily, the fastest mile being turned in 2:07½.

Mr. Wilson was fined $100 by the judges for an alleged pulling of the mare in the first two heats, but it was afterwards remitted when it was learned that such was not the case, as Wilson was out to win the race from the start, but got off bad, and only waited to get in the ten pin strikes at the close of the race.

—Mr. and Mrs. VanHood, of Carthage, and their guests, Miss Emma Precount, of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Isaac Barrett and Mrs. Oak Morrison, of Greenfield, visited Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Ball, Wednesday.

GOD WAS EVER WITH THE NEGRO

Coptic Priest Declared Last Night That Blacks Should Go Back to Africa

FOUND A NEW GOVERNMENT

On the Banks of the Muddy Congo River and the Guinear Gulf.

The ex-Coptic priest, a black Jew, who has been in this city for two days and who delivers a free lecture tonight at St. Paul's M. E. church on "Abyssinian People, Religion and History, and the Moral, Spiritual and Commercial Issues of the Whites and Blacks in the Future," spoke to a large audience of colored people in the Second M. E. church last night on "Shall the Blacks go Back to Africa?"

He handled the subject in a master-ly way, and while it was possibly too pedantic for the auditors to readily grasp a clear conception, it was a treat. During the course of the address, the Abyssinian said in part:

"The present age of man is one of psychological interest to the differentiation of his moral, spiritual and educational operations. The time has surely come when the fittest of all physical organisms must survive, which survival is the outcome of spiritual operation in natural orders, orders relative chiefly to the highest of all physical organisms, man.
Those humanitarians zealous in the propagation of moral liberty to the weaker, must not confuse this liberty with the political intricacies of a nation; for the contribution of political liberty to the weaker necessitate a difficulty of careful study. In the annals of histrionic truths, God has always made use of the stronger and more enlightened to demonstrate an authority over the ignorant and weaker; which authority tended to have moulded the inferior to a higher plane of civilization, and fit them for the occupation of future habitations.
It was the Hamitic or dark race in Egypt and Abyssinia's indubiously great lands that contributed a civil and political conception to Israel's people in the moral bondage of theirs. And who will doubt that God's intention suffered them to have departed from Palestinian soil to find a higher form of temporal civilization, so that when they shall have become perfect they were to return and found a newer government on the basis of their previous rulers."

"This same lesson can be applied to the negroes; when the ships sailed o'er seas laden with debased and barbarous beings from the western shores of Africa, a supernatural Presence kept watch over them; when, after centuries of bondage and brutal force was applied, illegal miscegenation began, the same supernatural Presence stopped these abuses with a bloody atonement; in the present agitation, the same Presence scorns a Vardaman, despises a Tilman, pities a Thomas Dixon, and their diabolic satyr; in the social and political op-positions as tendered to these people the same Presence accepts; in the contribution of moral and spiritual support for his betterment, this Presence blesses; yea, when this his benefactor, the superior race he lives among shall have fully seen the evolution of his through the many avenues, this potent Presence shall move the hearts of those touched with higher ideals and entrusted with his moral, educational and spiritual cares, to raise a standard, which standard on yon banks of the Congo river and Guinear gulf shall fly, and these descendants of slavery founding among their own people a government, shall then understand why were they taken away from home to other parts of the world."

In Greece, after a prisoner has been sentenced to death, he has to wait two years before the execution can take place.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, AUGUST 1, 1907.

Esperanto clubs are finally being organized in Indiana. Washington, in Daviess county, has one composed of women.

John D. Rockefeller is demanding $92 70 due him as witness fees, although the information he gave the court wasn't worth 30 cents.

The air we breathe is still to be had in ample quantities, but since the organization of an international theatrical trust, there is a mild wonder whether anything will be free from the tentacles of the octopus.

The fourth trial of Caleb Powers for the murder of Goebel, has begun, and it remains to be seen whether it will differ in any respect from those that have preceded it. Gov. Goebel of Kentucky was assassinated seven and a half years ago. It should be possible by this time to impanel an impartial jury to try a man accused of that crime. Powers has already faced a jury three times. Twice he has been sentenced to life imprisonment, and once to be hanged. On each occasion the Court of Appeals has reversed the verdict and granted a new trial. This is no proof of innocence, but it is evidence that feeling ran so high that he has been unable to get a fair trial. It was fortunate for him that the spirit which prevailed in the lower court did not cause the Court of Ap-

THE STATE'S FINANCES
Some Interesting Figures from the Various State Officials.

Indianapolis, Aug. 1.—Yesterday ended the fiscal quarter of the year for the state government, and the five state officials who make reports of their finances were busy footing up the totals. The secretary of state's office will lead when the reports of receipts are made, the total being about $42,000, divided as follows: Domestic corporation fees, $32,900; foreign corporation fees, $1,708; automobile license fees, $1,550; court reports, $2,300; miscellaneous receipts, $3,300; interest about $95. Sid Conger, state oil inspector, was early with his report, which showed $8,861. 11 turned over to the state. This is less than the collections for the quarter previous, and Mr. Conger says that the summer quarter always shows less than the others because less oil is inspected. Of the total amount turned in, $28,06 was interest. Ed V. Fitzpatrick had ready to turn in $2,303.45, of which $1,446.20 was made up of fees on the supreme court account and $857.25 on the appellate court account.

The announcement is made semi-officially that Joe Fanning, now confidential secretary of August Belmont, the New York banker and politician, has decided to retire from the political game in Indiana at the expiration of his present term as Seventh district member of the Democratic state committee. The announcement is of more than ordinary interest, as Fanning has long been one of Thomas Taggart's first lieutenants. He was vice-chairman of the state committee during the 1904 campaign and is one of the best known politicians in Indiana. It is said that Bernard Korby, a well-known young attorney here, will be a candidate to succeed Fanning.

A meeting between the members of the railroad commission and representatives of the various railroad systems in the state, will be held here soon to arrive at a definite understanding as to the enforcement of the "full train crew" law. The commission takes the position that the extra men that must be employed on trains under the new law must have the same qualifications as a brakeman. The railroads are insisting in many cases on using their porters as the extra men. A letter was received today from John C. Williams, general counsel for the Vandalia, stating that he considers that the employment of the porter as flagman is permissible under the law. The railroad trainmen's organizations are determined that porters shall not be employed as flagmen.

Cy Davis of Bloomfield, who has been a Democratic candidate for congress in the Second district several times, was here today. He was asked if he would be a candidate for re-nomination, but he refused to discuss peals to swerve from the law. If Powers is guilty he has had an undeserved respite from hard labor or the scaffold. If innocent, he is deserving of universal sympathy. He is now 38 years old and has spent the last seven years of his life in jail, with the penitentiary or the gallows staring him in the face. He has gone through an experience probably unprecedented in this country.

Russel Sage was opposed to vacations and a wealthy Iowan, inclined the same way, says no one should take a vacation until he is seventy. Those who die before reaching seventy, in that case, would never know what a bore a vacation is.

A government weather official at Washington told a reporter that the recent weather had "flabbergasted" his department. "Flabbergasted" is too mild a term to describe what the weather word public would like to do to the weather department.

President Roosevelt "holds advanced views on the subject of government regulation and supervision," says the Boston Journal. "But those views are sane and are borne out by careful and intelligent examination of the facts." This is everlastingly true. To question the sanity of these views is not to reflect upon the president but upon one's own sanity.

the matter. It is the supposition that he wants to make another race.

At a meeting between Mayor Book-walter and members of the board of county commissioners today, it was decided that the county shall build a wing to the court house to be used as a city hall and the new superior courts created by the last legislature. The improvement will cost about $500, 000. It will be made at once.

Methodist Camp Meeting.
Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 1.—Battle Ground's annual camp-meeting under the auspices of the Northwest Indiana Methodist Episcopal Conference will open this evening with an address by Dr. George W. Switzer of Lafayette, president of the camp-meeting association, and a sermon by Dr. J. W. Mahood of Sioux City, Ia. There are five hundred or more people on the grounds and the cottages are filling up rapidly.

Interurban Collision.
Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 1.—While an interurban north-bound car on the Indianapolis & Eastern traction line was running rapidly at a point near this city, it plunged into an open switch and was in collision with a line repair car, in waiting on the siding. Four men were caught in the wreck of the repair car, and all were severely bruised, while Cooper Black, who was in charge, suffered hurts which may prove fatal.

Former Cashier Arrested.
Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—Morris L. Hartman, former cashier of the Farmers' National bank of Boyertown, Pa., which was closed by the comptroller of the currency on July 20, was arrested yesterday, charged with mis-applying the funds of the institution, making false entries in the books of the bank and falsifying his reports to the comptroller. The accused was held in $10,000 bail.

End of Duluth Strike.
Duluth, Minn., Aug. 1.—After discussing for more than two hours the propositions contained in the final letter of the officials of the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern railway to the striking ore dock men, the latter voted to return to work. This ends the dock strike in Duluth, Superior and probably in Two Harbors, and it is regarded as likely that the officials of the steel corporation will immediately resume mining on the range.

Hannorah Sullivan Dead.
Milton, Ind., Aug. 1.—Hannorah Sullivan, the aged woman found ill on the floor of her home a week ago, died last evening. She was ninety years old.

COWARDLY ATTACK MET

Katherine Moneyhan, at Elwood, Shows Herself Handy With Her Fists and Fleet of Foot.

She Resists an Attack by Four Men In True John L. Style and Puts Them to Flight.

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 1.—Katherine Moneyhan was attacked by four men, who sprang out from behind a building she was passing. Instead of screaming or fainting, as most girls would, she planted her fist in the face of one of her assailants, and he went down as if shot. An upper cut put a second to the ground and she made a grab at a third, but got only a handful of hair. The fourth took to his heels, but not until she had recognized him. The young woman proved as fleet of foot as she was expert at fistfights and she pursued the youngster until she caught him. She gave him a severe pummeling and forced him to give the names of his associates. On his plea that they were just trying to scare her she let him go and agreed not to prosecute, providing such tactics were cut out of the young men's repertory in the future.

SHE MUST SHOW UP

There Is a Property Awaiting Mrs.
Smith at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 1.—If Rebecca Emith, who disappeared from Lafayette in January, 1891, returns to this county before the circuit court disposes of a case that was filed last evening, she will be the possessor of an estate valued at several thousand dollars, and if she does not she will be declared legally dead, and an administrator will be appointed to take charge of the estate that has been lying in the bank here for more than sixteen years.

Mrs. Smith was last seen January 7, 1891, and since then her friends and relatives have not known her whereabouts. They do not know whether she is alive or dead. The estate has been growing, but has had nobody to look after it, and her relatives decided it should be disposed of in some way. David Skiles, a relative, has filed a complaint against the absentee, asking the court to determine on an administrator.

Receives Many Replies.

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 1.—Kathleen Wright, the farmer who was looking for farm laborers and offering a large salary with board and room, etc., has been swamped with letters owing to the publicity given the case. One mail brought thirty-eight inquiries, each one wishing to know how to reach him, and a dozen contained proposals of marriage to one of his daughters. The answers came largely from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois, while there were a dozen or more from the state of New York. Some of the letters were from young men actually seeking positions, but most of them were mercenary and inquired chiefly about his wealth, asking his daughters' names, ages, etc.

An Unfortunate Girl.

Indianapolis, Aug. 1.—When the city dispensary ambulance was called to a box factory at Tenth street and the canal, Dr. Mayer, who was in charge, found awaiting him Marie Weaver, a pretty eighteen-year-old girl, who was the embodiment of despair. She had fallen in some manner in the factory and the ligaments in her back which had been broken time and again, had parted under the strain of the fall. A few weeks ago the girl obtained employment at a baking factory, when she slipped on the hardwood floor in the office, breaking the ligaments for the fifth time.

May Cause Death.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 1.—William Schick, twenty years old, was brought to St. Elizabeth's hospital in this city in a serious condition, the victim of an accidental shooting which occurred on the farm of George Allen, seven miles northwest of Otterbein. He was employed on the farm as a harvester, and was working with Chance Jewell, fourteen years old, with whom he had been friends for a long time. At 6 o'clock the boys walked from the field together, and Jewell was exhibiting a new revolver he had just bought. In some way the revolver was discharged and the bullet entered Schick's left shoulder.

Governor Hanly Speaks at Elkhart.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 1.—Gov. Hanly, in an address before the Chautauqua assembly here, took issue with Senator Beveridge's child labor regulation ideas; with President Roosevelt's inheritance tax ideas; and the general proposition that the national government was to take charge of the intimate affairs of the various states in the Union. He took the ground of upholding the sovereignty of the states, and declared that the states, not the nation, should solve the problems that are coming up for solution.

INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

Is Powers Trial, on Judge Robbins' Withdrawal.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 1.—The trial of Caleb Powers, charged with complicity in the murder of Senator William Goebel, has been indefinitely postponed. Following the action of Special Judge Robbins in vacating the bench, the attorneys could not agree on a suitable man to sit in the case, and Robbins adjourned court. The trial will not be proceeded with until Governor Beckham appoints a new judge.

The members of the legislature of 1900 had been summoned by the defense to prove that the caucus declaring Goebel governor was not legal. This evidence is to be introduced in support of the pardon issued to Powers by Governor W. S. Taylor during his short regime. The pardon has heretofore been held invalid. Powers had the pardon in his possession when arrested.

To Straighten Things Out.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Radical reforms in the territorial government of New Mexico are to be inaugurated upon the arrival in Santa Fe of Governor George Curry, who has just returned from the Philippines to assume that office. President Roosevelt conferred with Governor Curry for two hours yesterday and sent him on his way thoroughly imbued with the necessity of ruling with an iron hand until the alleged tangle of intrigue and graft in New Mexico has been straightened out.

WAS SUICIDE

Says Coroner's Verdict In the Matthews Case at Colorado Springs.

THE MOTHER THINKS NOT

Mrs. Jennie Matthews Absolutely Refuses to Accept the Theory of Suicide.

C. A. Coey Says It Is a Plain Case of Murder and That Rumbaugh Did It.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 1.—All suspicion against Amos R. Rumbaugh, as the slayer of Miss Laura Matthews, was removed through the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday. The verdict reads: "We, the jury, impaneled to inquire into the cause of death of Laura Matthews, find that she came to her death from gunshot wounds inflicted with suicidal intent." This verdict was rendered after the jury had been out exactly thirty minutes. An inquest was later held over the remains of Amos R. Rumbaugh, who shot himself through the head Monday. The verdict was that he came to his death by his own hand. Suspicion for a time pointed to Rumbaugh as having caused the death of Miss Matthews because of his apparent infatuation for the young woman and his failure to appear at the inquest as a witness.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—C. A. Coey, who has been prominently mentioned in the developments following the suicide of Laura Matthews at Colorado Springs, held a conference with Mrs. Jennie Matthews, the mother of the girl, who has arrived here from Kansas City. At the conclusion of their interview both of them declared that in their opinion, the girl had been murdered. Coey declared that he had traced the telegram said to have been sent to him by Miss Tillie Green, the nurse of Miss Matthews, and was satisfied she did not send it. He further said:

"I believe that Miss Matthews' death is a plain case of murder. In my opinion Rumbaugh committed the deed and sent a telegram calculated to throw strong suspicion on me as being the cause of the girl's suicide. About ten days ago I wrote Miss Matthews a cheerful letter and she was talking of returning to Chicago. Rumbaugh was evidently afraid of losing the girl."

Mrs. Matthews absolutely refused to accept the theory of suicide. An hour before receiving the telegram announcing the girl's death she had received a letter from her daughter which was evidently written while in good spirits. The girl spoke of starting for Chicago within a short time and stopping at Kansas City for a visit.

PRIEST INDICTED

Father Martoogessian, the Armenian, Faces Serious Charges.

New York, Aug. 1.—Four indictments now lie against Father Levont Martoogessian, the Armenian who it is alleged sometimes laid aside his priestly robes to practice extortion and blackmail. The priest is just now the central figure in the conspiracy which the district attorney seeks to prove had for its object the robbery of wealthy Armenians and led to the murder of the rug merchant, Tavshanjian, and others who refused to be financially bled.

From the slayer of Tavshanjian, Bedros Hampartoomian, as he is known here, the police hope to secure information establishing that the youth unwittingly was the agent of blackmailing terrorists. A trunk which Hampartoomian had in Lowell, Mass., has been brought here and its contents may throw light on the investigation. Once the assassin is convinced that he was more of a tool than a patriot, the police expect him to make disclosures that will make easy the wiping out of a dangerous gang.

Of the three additional indictments against Martoogessian, brought in by the grand jury, two charge attempted robbery as did the original indictment, and one charges extortion. The latter charges that the priest was responsible for at least one of the blackmailing letters which quickly followed the death of the rug merchant.

Train Derailed.

Jonesboro, Ill., Aug. 1.—The engine and two coaches of a fast southbound Mobile & Ohio passenger train were derailed between here and Mill Creek yesterday, killing Edward Williams of Jackson, Tenn., and probably fatally injuring Engineer A. A. Wilde of Jackson. The engine turned over and Engineer Wilde was scalded. Several passengers were badly bruised, but none seriously injured. The wreck caught fire and one car was burned before the fire could be extinguished.

What They Got.

Beach Haven, N. J., Aug. 1.—Chas. D. Montague of Brooklyn, an expert on metal furniture, shows by his report submitted to the Pennsylvania capitol investigation commission, that the state was mulcted more than a million and a half dollars on the $2,000, 000 contract for metallic furnishings.

PEACE QUESTIONS

The Hague Conference Is Getting Light on Various Important Matters.

QUESTION OF CONTRABAND

On This Great Briain Found Herself Abandoned by Allies.

This Country and Great Briain Are Agreed as to Court of Arbitration.

The Hague, Aug. 1.—American and British delegations are exchanging views on their respective projected propositions relating to periodical meetings of the conference and they may agree to combine the two propositions.

The United States thinks that the five-year period will be sufficient to give rise to new problems, but is ready to accept the seven-year period as suggested by Great Britain, especially with the clause providing for an extraordinary convocation of the conference before the fixed time in the event of grave developments requiring it.

The general attitude of Great Britain, which particularly in all the propositions regarding naval warfare, seems only preoccupied towards protecting herself against Germany, is causing many comments. On the question of contraband Great Britain was abandoned by all her allies, as France voted against the proposition, while Spain abstained from voting. Great Britain therefore found herself supported only by small countries.

Germany and the United States again were in line against Great Britain on this subject, strengthening the belief that their co-operation in the conference may lead to more important understandings on matters outside the conference.

Both the United States and Great Britain have agreed on the amendment to the American proposition regarding the establishment of a general court of arbitration, in which any contracting power may withdraw from the agreement upon six months' notice, but this must not be interpreted as affecting the principle of the proposition, or the intent of its application. The amendment merely was inspired by the apparent uselessness of establishing such period of notification for as long as a year, considering the modern means of communication.

FIRE IN INSANE WARDS

Pittsburg Institution Has Hard Battle With Flames.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—Fire that threatened to destroy the municipal institutions of this city at Marshalsea, twelve miles from here, broke out about 10 o'clock last night and threatened to wipe out all the buildings. The fire started in the laundry of the main building and quickly spread to those on either side.

Samuel Means, an employee, was caught, under falling walls and crushed to death, and two others were seriously injured.

Three fire engines with a quantity of hose were placed aboard a special train and sent to the scene from here. Soon another call for more fire-fighting apparatus was received and two more engines were dispatched. Shortly after the arrival of the second special train from this city it was seen that the insane pavilion would soon be enveloped in flames. There were fifty-nine patients, all more or less violent, confined in cell-like wards in the pavilion. These patients were made frantic by the glare of the flames shining through their barred windows. All the attendants, reinforced by the firemen and county detectives, entered the building and for a while it appeared doubtful whether the crazed men and women would be gotten from the building. However, the patients responded to the efforts of the authorities and all were taken to places of safety.

FACES UGLY CHARGE

Michigan Legislator Arraigned for Manslaughter.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 1.—Representative Charles E. Ward, speaker pro tempore of the house of representatives and chairman of the ways and means committee, was arraigned yesterday in the police court here on a warrant charging him with manslaughter in connection with the death here from a criminal operation in April of Miss Edith Presley, proffender for the state senate. Mr. Ward stood mute and his attorney asked for an examination in the police court, which Justice Stein set for Sept. 6. The justice then fixed bail at $3,000, which was furnished.

Sinking Land in Panama.

Colon, Aug. 1.—The damage to the roadbed by the sinking of the land around Lion Hill is more serious than was previously reported. A portion of the track built over the marsh, which is known as the Black Swamp, between Aborea Largarto and Lion Hill, sank within thirty feet of a number of freight trains. Both ends of the isthmus are tied up and passenger trains are irregular.

How I Won Consent.

(Original.)

Alice would not marry me without her father's consent, and that consent he would not give. He had the blood of a British ducal family in his veins, while I was an American commoner. In vain I argued with him that my bank account (in America at least) was to be preferred to blue blood and poverty; in vain I pleaded with Alice to pay no attention to the old dotard and marry me despite his commands to the contrary. No. Such disobedience would break her father's heart. There were but the two of them, and a rupture was out of the question. It seemed to me that one might as well talk of breaking the heart of a bullock as this obstinate Englishman.

Since Alice would neither give me up nor marry me I led a very uncomfortable life. Indeed, the time came when I was almost ready to carry her off in spite of herself and her father. But I formed a better plan—one equally hazardous, but more likely of success. It had one disadvantage over the abduction plan. In that plan I would carry with me the world's sympathy; in the plan I adopted if detected I would certainly lose my love and be eternally disgraced.

Mr. Cordery, Alice's father, was an inveterate gambler. The only thing in America that he approved of was the national game of poker. American society was to him a boiling pot. American art, literature, professional and business methods, were execrable. But poker was a fine game. I would not join the occasional poker parties he had in his house, first, because I dislike the excitement of gambling; second, when the old gentleman was busy at the game I was free with Alice. However, my plan involved my playing poker, and one evening I surprised him by taking a hand.

I lost small sums at several sittings and lost intentionally. I would never bet high with any opponent except Mr. Cordery and in this way avoided winning or losing any considerable sum from any one but him. In his case, however, I kept losing and winning, always winning more than I had lost, till my opponent owed more than he could pay without mortgaging the little property he possessed. This I finally forced him to do, and when he had done it I won the loan he had made.

All this was done within a few weeks. Once, and once only, I was frightened from the terrible risk I was running. One of the players while toying with a card fell to rubbing his thumb on its back. Feeling a little speck, he tried to rub it off. With a throbbing heart I gathered up the cards, taking the card he was thumbing from him and tossing them to the dealer. That card had been marked, and I had marked it.

Before entering upon these games I had gone to a professional gambler and paid him to teach me how to win. He initiated me into a system of marking the cards on the back with little specks. The four suits by this system are designated by the position of the specks on the back of the cards. Thus one speck in a certain position would mean the ace of hearts, two specks the queen, and so on. But in poker it was not necessary that the specks should be in any given position. The specks were made by a puncture of a pin point in the card and filling the puncture with wax. My instructor told me that to be able to feel them I must file the skin of my thumb down to the quick and wear a kid cap on the thumb. This I did, and the slightest touch would give me the denomination of the card. As to the pack used, I found packs similar to those Mr. Cordery kept on hand and surreptitiously substituted my marked cards for his.

Well, I won all Mr. Cordery's belongings—they were not large—and made him a pauper. I am aware that in cases of this kind, especially in plays, the next step would be for the loser to put up his daughter for a stake. But since this was a real case no such thing occurred. Mr. Cordery borrowed a small sum from one of the party, which I promptly won. Then he borrowed of me, and I won what I had lent him. He borrowed more, and I won that. Finally he gave up the struggle and shut himself up for three days. I was frightened out of my wits for fear he would do something desperate. He was thinking about his daughter's future. She would marry no one but me, and if she didn't marry she must go to work. Of two evils the least must be chosen. The old man gave in and told her she'd better accept me.

As soon as I had received his consent, learning from Alice of sundry debts that had long been owing her father, I sent him $100, purporting to come from one of his debtors from the other side of the world. As I expected, he resumed his poker parties. The rapidly with which he won my money was astonishing. In three sittings he had won all I had taken from him before he commenced to borrow of me and in two more sittings had regained the loans. I announced that I would play no more as a married man and the evening before my wedding lost to him $1,000, a sum for my conscience at the strain I had put upon him.

I have never dared tell my wife of the manner by which I cut the Gordian knot and won her father's consent—yes, literally won it, and that with marked cards. And I never see any one of the men who made up the poker parties without a shudder, thinking, though I had lost something to all of them, what a terrible fate would have befallen me had I been detected in the fraud.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Ready for work again, eh? I'm glad you're back, Jefferson. I'm busy now, but one of these days I want to have a serious talk with you in regard to your future. This artist business is all very well for a pastime, but it's not a career—surely you can appreciate that—for a young man with such prospects as yours. Have you ever stopped to think of that?"

Jefferson was silent. He did not want to displease his father. On the other hand, it was impossible to let things drift as they had been doing. There must be an understanding sooner or later. Why not now?

"The truth is, sir," he began timidly, "I'd like a little talk with you now if you can spare the time."

Ryder senior looked first at his watch and then at his son, who, ill at ease, sat nervously on the extreme edge of a chair. Then he said, with a smile:

"Well, my boy, to be perfectly frank, I can't—but I will. Come, what is it?" Then, as if to apologize for his previous abruptness, he added: "I've had a very busy day, Jeff. What with Transcontinental and Transatlantic and Southern Pacific and Wall street and rate bills and Washington I feel like Atlas shouldering the world."

"The world wasn't intended for one pair of shoulders to carry, sir," rejoined Jefferson calmly.

His father looked at him in amazement. It was something new to hear any one venturing to question or comment upon anything he said.

"Why not?" he demanded when he had recovered from his surprise. "Julius Caesar carried it. Napoleon carried it—to a certain extent. However, that's neither here nor there. What is it, boy?"

Unable to remain a moment inactive, he commenced to pick among the mass of papers on his desk while Jefferson was thinking what to say. The last word his father uttered gave him a cue, and he blurted out protestingly:

"That's just it, sir. You forget that I'm no longer a boy. It's time to treat me as if I were a man."

Ryder senior leaned back in his chair and laughed heartily.

"A man at twenty-eight? That's an excellent joke. Do you know that a man doesn't get his horse sense till he's forty?"

"I want you to take me seriously," persisted Jefferson.

Ryder senior was not a patient man. His moments of good humor were of brief duration. Anything that savored of questioning his authority always angered him. The smile went out of his face, and he retorted explosively:

"Go on! Be serious if you want, only don't take so long about it. But

"Well, Jefferson, did you have a good time abroad?"

understand one thing—I want no preaching, no philosophical or socialistic twaddle, no Tolstois; he's a great thinker, and you're not; no Bernard Shaw; he's funny, and you're not. Now go ahead."

This beginning was not very encouraging, and Jefferson felt somewhat intimidated, but he realized that he might not have another such opportunity, so he plunged right in.

"Father, I am devoted to my work. I even intend to go away and travel a few years and see the world. It will help me considerably."

Ryder senior eyed his son in silence for a few moments; then he said gently:

"Don't be obstinate, Jeff. Listen to me. I know the world better than you do. You mustn't go away. You are the only flesh and blood I have. You see that I want you with me, and now you take advantage—you take advantage!"

"No, father, I don't," protested Jefferson, "but I want to go away. Although I have my studio and am practically independent, I want to go where I shall be perfectly free—where my every move will not be watched—where I can meet my fellow man heart to heart on an equal basis, where I shall not be pointed out as the son of Ready Money Ryder. I want to make a reputation of my own as an artist."

"Why not study theology and become a preacher?" sneered Ryder. Then more amiably he said: "No, my lad, you stay here. Study my interests—study the interests that will be yours some day."

"No," said Jefferson doggedly, "I'd rather go. My work and my self-respect demand it."

"Then go, go!" cried his father in a burst of anger. "I'm a fool for wasting my time with an ungrateful son!" He rose from his seat and began to pace the room.

"Father," exclaimed Jefferson, starting forward, "you do me an injustice." Ryder laughed cynically. He went back to his desk, and, sitting facing his son, he said:

"Jefferson, you are young. It is one of the symptoms of youth to worry about public opinion. When you are as old as I am, you will understand that there is only one thing which counts in this world—money. The man who has it possesses power over the man who has it not, and power is what the ambitious man loves most."

He stopped to pick up a book. It was "The American Octopus." Turning again to his son, he went on:

"Do you see this book? It is the literary sensation of the year. Why? Because it attacks me, the richest man in the world. It holds me up as a monster, a tyrant, a man without soul, honor or conscience, caring only for one thing—money; having but one passion—the love of power and halting at nothing, not even at crime, to secure it. That is the portrait they draw of your father."

Jefferson said nothing. He was wondering if his sire had a suspicion who wrote it and was leading up to that. But Ryder senior continued:

"Do I care? The more they attack me the more I like it. Their puny pen pricks have about the same effect as mosquito bites on the pachyderm. What I am, the conditions of my time made me. When I started in business a humble clerk, forty years ago, I had but one goal—success; I had but one aim—to get rich. I was lucky. I made a little money, and I soon discovered that I could make more money by outwitting my competitors in the oil fields. Railroad conditions helped me. The whole country was money mad. A wave of commercial prosperity swept over the land, and I was carried along on its crest. I grew enormously rich, my millions increasing by leaps and bounds. I branched out into other interests, successful always, until my holdings grew to what they are today—the wonder of the twentieth century. What do I care for the world's respect when my money makes the world my slave? What respect can I have for a people that cringe before money and let it rule them? Are you aware that not a factory wheel turns, not a vote is counted, not a judge is appointed, not a legislator seated, not a president elected without my consent? I am the real ruler of the United States—not the so called government at Washington. They are my puppets and this is my executive chamber. This power will be yours one day, boy, but you must know how to use it when it comes."

"I never want it, father," said Jefferson firmly. "To me your words savor of treason. I couldn't imagine that American talking that way." He pointed to the mantel, at a picture of George Washington.

Ryder senior laughed. He could not help it if his son was an idealist. There was no use getting angry, so he merely shrugged his shoulders and said:

"All right, Jeff. We'll discuss the matter later when you've cut your wisdom teeth. Just at present, you're in the clouds. But you spoke of my doing you an injustice. How can my love of power do you an injustice?"

"Because," replied Jefferson, "you exert that power over your family as well as over your business associates. You think and will for everybody in the house, for everyone who comes in contact with you. Yours is an influence no one seems able to resist. You robbed me of my right to think. Ever since I was old enough to choose you have chosen for me. You have chosen that I should marry Kate Roberts. That is the one thing I wished to speak to you about. The marriage is impossible."

Ryder senior half sprang from his seat.

"So," he said sternly, "this is your latest act of rebellion, is it? You are going to waltz on your word? You are going to jilt the girl?"

"I never gave my word," answered Jefferson hotly. "Nor did Kate understand that an engagement existed. You can't expect me to marry a girl I don't care a straw about. It would not be fair to her."

"Don't be a fool, Jeff. I don't want to think for you or to choose for you or to marry for you. I did not interfere when you threw up the position I made for you in the Trading company and took that studio. I realized that you were restless under the harness, so I gave you plenty of rein. But I know so much better than you what is best for you. Believe me I do. Don't—don't be obstinate. This marriage means a great deal to my interests—to your interests. Kate's father is all powerful in the senate. He'll never forgive this disappointment. Hang it all, you liked the girl once, and I made sure that"—

He stopped suddenly, and the expression on his face changed as a new light dawned upon him.

"It isn't that Rossmore girl, is it?" he demanded. His face grew dark, and his jaw clicked as he said between his teeth: "I told you some time ago how I felt about her. If I thought that it was Rossmore's daughter! You know what's going to happen to him, don't you?"

Thus appealed to, Jefferson thought this was the most favorable opportunity he would have to redeem his promise to Shirley. So, little anticipating the tempest he was about to unchain, he answered:

"I am familiar with the charges that they have trumped up against him. Needless to say, I consider him entirely innocent. What's more, I firmly believe he is the victim of a contemptible conspiracy. And I'm going to make it my business to find out who the plotters are. I came to ask you to help me. Will you?"

"I will see him hanged first! He has always opposed me. He has always defied my power, and now his daughter has entrapped my son. So it's her you want to go to, eh? Well, I can't make you marry a girl you don't want, but I can prevent you throwing yourself away on the daughter of a man who is about to be publicly disgraced, and I will."

"Poor old Rossmore!" said Jefferson bitterly. "If the history of every financial transaction were made known, how many of us would escape public disgrace? Would you?" he cried.

Ryder senior rose, his hands working dangerously. He made a movement as if about to advance on his son, but by a supreme effort he controlled himself.

"No, upon my word, it's no use disinheriting you. You wouldn't care. I think you'd be glad—on my soul, I do!" Then, calming down once more, he added: "Jefferson, give me your word of honor that your object in going away is not to find out this girl and marry her unknown to me. I don't mind your losing your heart, but don't lose your head. Give me your hand on it."

Jefferson reluctantly held out his hand.

"If I thought that you would marry that girl unknown to me I'd have Rossmore sent out of the country, and the woman too. Listen, boy. This man is my enemy, and I show no mercy to my enemies. There are more reasons than one why you cannot marry Miss Rossmore. If she knew one of them she would not marry you."

"What reasons?" demanded Jefferson.

"The principal one," said Ryder slowly and deliberately, and eying his son keenly as if to judge of the effect of his words, "the principal one is that it was through my agents that the demand was made for her father's impeachment."

"Ah," cried Jefferson, "then I guessed aright!"

"Marry Kate or not, as you please, but I want you to stay here," the elder man said after a pause.

"It's no use. My mind is made up," answered Jefferson decisively.

The telephone rang, and Jefferson got up to go. Mr. Ryder took up the receiver.

"Hallo! What's that? Sergeant Ellison? Yes, send him up."

Putting the telephone down, Ryder senior rose and, crossing the room, accompanied his son to the door.

"Think it well over, Jeff. Don't be hasty."

A few minutes later Jefferson left the house.

The door opened and Mr. Bagley entered, followed by a tall, powerfully built man, whose robust physique and cheap looking clothes contrasted strangely with the delicate ultrafashionably attired English secretary.

"Take a seat, sergeant," said Mr. Ryder cordially, motioning his visitor to a chair. The man sat down gingerly on one of the rich leather upholstered chairs. His manner was nervous and awkward, as if intimidated in the presence of the financier.

"Are the national committee still waiting?" demanded Mr. Ryder.

"Yes, sir," replied the secretary.

"I'll see them in a few minutes. Leave me with Sergeant Ellison."

Mr. Bagley bowed and retired.

Ryder, with his customary bluntness, came right down to business.

"Well, what have you been doing about the book?" he demanded. "Have you found the author of 'The American Octopus'?"

"No, sir; I have not. I confess I'm baffled. The secret has been well kept. The publishers have shut up like a clam. There's only one thing that I'm pretty well sure of."

"What's that?" demanded Ryder, interested.

"That no such person as Shirley Green exists."

"Oh," exclaimed the financier, "then you think it is a mere nom de plume?"

"Yes, sir."

"And what do you think was the reason for preserving the anonymity?"

"Well, you see, sir, the book deals with a big subject. It gives some hard knocks, and the author no doubt felt a little timid about launching it under his or her real name. At least that's my theory, sir."

"And a good one, no doubt," said Mr. Ryder. Then he added: "That makes me all the more anxious to find out who it is. I would willingly give this moment a check for $5,000 to know who wrote it. Whoever it is, knows me as well as I know myself. We must find the author."

FIFTY FREE TICKETS

TO THE

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

WHICH INCLUDES

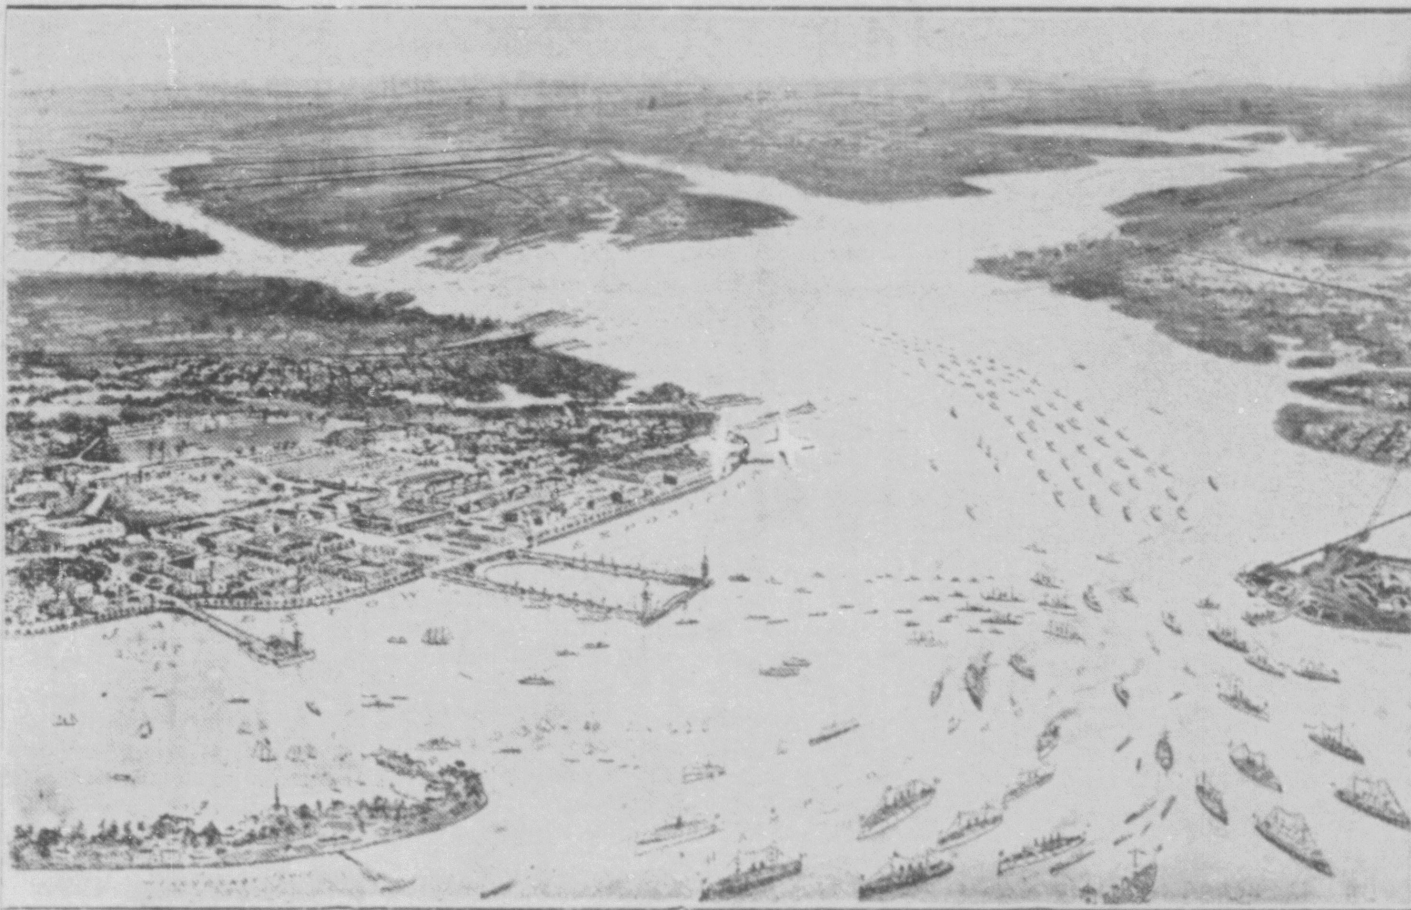

Eight Days Lodging Free

THE REPUBLICAN hopes to send at least fifty persons to the Jamestown Exposition free. At least a plan has been perfected whereby such will be easily accomplished by those who are not afraid to hustle a little. The Republican abandoned the idea of a contest for the reason that there are always contestants who work hard and win nothing at all. The Republican's plan is so arranged that the workers get the benefit of every particle of exertion. The plan is very simple. The Republican runs its excursions to the Exposition weekly on Tuesdays until the Exposition closes in November. The close of the Exposition is six months away. ANY PERSON WHO WILL SECURE TEN (10) NEW SUBSCRIBERS TO THE REPUBLICAN—$3.00 PER YEAR IN RUSH COUNTY, BY MAIL; $4.00 DELIVERED BY CARRIER IN RUSHVILLE—PAID ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE, WILL RECEIVE A TICKET FREE. This ticket entitles the holder to railroad fare both ways and lodging while at the Exposition—eight days—with stopover privileges galore along the route, including Richmond, Va. and Washington, D. C., including steamboat rides between Richmond and the Exposition grounds and between the Exposition grounds and Washington, D. C.—both all day rides, constituting what are among the chief pleasures of the entire trip.

But suppose you fail to secure ten subscribers. Well, under The Republican's plan you don't lose, for with every subscriber you do secure you get a credit of two dollars on your ticket.

Suppose you should go quietly to work right now. You get one NEW subscriber and bring his name and the money to The Republican office. You receive a receipt entitling you to a credit of two dollars on your ticket when you go. Then if you get one subscriber your ticket will cost you but $19.50. If you get three you go for $15.50, and so on up to ten, when you are handed a ticket for nothing. Then again, your tickets are transferable. That is to say if you earn a ticket or any part of a ticket and for any reason can not go, you are at liberty to sell your ticket or your credit on same to any other person. Suppose you should earn a whole ticket, then under the new arrangement, just perfected with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad you could, by paying $1.50, have your fare and lodging provided and a sleeping car both ways.

To those who do not care to work for free tickets we will sell them a ticket for $21.50 (children under 12 years $11.75) which includes car fare both ways and eight days lodging at the Exposition at Tent City, which is designated in the cut by a cross.

How Trains and Boats Run.

There are two trains daily between Cincinnati and Richmond and the exposition—if one should wish to go all the way by rail. It must be remembered that these tickets are good either by rail all the way or via steamboat from Richmond to the Exposition grounds. Should you wish to leave Rushville in the evening you take the train for Cincinnati at 3:24 p. m., arriving there at 6 p. m. you then leave Cincinnati on the C. & O. at 9:30 p. m. arriving at Richmond at 4:15 p. m. Boats leave Richmond daily except Sunday at 7 a. m., arriving at the Exposition grounds at 6:30 p. m.

Should you wish to leave Rushville in the morning you would take a Big Four train at 8:13 a. m. arriving at Cincinnati at 10:55 a. m. Then you take the 12:01—noon—train on the C. & O. arriving at Richmond at 7:30 a. m.—too late for the boat the same day—but continuing on to the Exposition grounds you arrive at 10:10 a. m.

To leave Rushville in the evening is the most popular trip, for it allows more time in Richmond and gives better advantage for scenery.

Boats leave Norfolk and Old Point Comfort every day—both a day boat and a night boat—for Washington, D. C. and train with sleeper attached leaves Washington for Cincinnati on Thursday, the tenth day, at 11:10 p. m. arriving at Cincinnati at 5 p. m.

Five Days in Advance.

Arrangements have just been perfected through which patrons of The Republican's excursions will be able to secure tourist's sleeper Cincinnati to Richmond for 75c. That is to say, the rate will be $1.50 a berth, $3.00 a section, and when two persons occupy one berth this reduces the cost to each individual to 75c. The same rate applies on the return trip, the price from Washington, D. C. to Cincinnati being 75c. In order to secure space in sleeping car you must reserve same five days in advance.

You do not pay for your berth until you get on the train, although YOU MUST RESERVE SAME FIVE DAYS IN ADVANCE. These sleepers will leave Washington, D. C. on Thursdays, the tenth day, at 11:10 p. m. and reservations for the return trip may be made by simply indicating same to the conductor.

Go to work at once and get your free ticket and go any time you wish before the Exposition closes in November. For further information call or address.

OHIO NEWSPAPER PRAISES WATSON

Declaring Him to be the Form-able Candidate for the Governorship.

The following special from the Hoosier Capital appears in the Cleveland Ohio Leader.

Indianapolis, July 27.—Congressman James E. Watson, whip of the House, is threatened with a gubernatorial nomination. The brilliant young representative has a strong following throughout the Hoosier State, and the nomination for the governorship will go to him, if he will adopt a Barkis attitude.

Mr. Watson has represented the Sixth Indiana district for several terms and since the coronation of Uncle Joe Canon he has come rapidly into national prominence. Her veteran speaker found in Watson a combination of glad hand and a square jaw that provided great effectiveness in pushing legislation.

Membership on the ways and means committee broadened the field of the Indianian's activity, and when the speaker looked about him for an adjunct Watson was selected. The wisdom of the choice has been proved many times, and a brilliant congressional future is generally conceded to the Rushville James.

There is no manner of doubt that the Republican party will "play good politics" if it names Watson for governor. He is a brilliant stump orator, a hard and fast campaigner, and his popularity with the masses of voters is unquestioned. His election would be a foregone conclusion, in the opinion of the political seers of the State capitol.

The question of Mr. Watson's successor already is being agitated. The Sixth district is normally Republican, and the anxiety of the party leaders is centered more in the quality of the man to be selected than in the mere hunt for one who can win.

Talk About Sleeping

Women are like men when it comes to sleeping. Plenty of restful sleep makes a man strong and vigorous, and it makes a woman happy and beautiful.
But both women and men can procure restful sleep by using Sexine Pills. It is well known that nervousness and overwork prevent sleep. It is equally well known that Sexine Pills produce that delightful relaxation that folds one's tired limbs in Nature's arms while the unconscious body draws new life and vigor. Sexine Pills are the perfect

Obituary.

Beaufort Louis Conner, son of Beaufort L. and Mary Jane Conner, was born in Rush county, and passed away on the evening of July 27th, 1907, aged 37 years, 3 months and 18 days.

He spent his whole life in the home where he was born and was the devoted son of his father. On May 1st, 1889, he was united in marriage to Sarah Elizabeth Gilmore, of Springport, Ind. Three children have been born to them, two of whom are living—Russell Gilmore and the little daughter Florence.

For the past six months he has been a sufferer, but the end came unexpectedly and was a shock to his family and friends. He was an honest upright citizen, and was always ready to lend a helping hand to his neighbors, or any one in distress.

For about three years he has been a member of the Odd Fellows, and one year ago he became a member of the Modern Woodmen.

His friends speak in the highest praise of his manly and straight forward manner of doing business with his fellowmen, who will miss him.

He leaves a wife, two children, his mother and one sister, with relatives and a host of friends to mourn his loss. His life's work is done and he has gone to meet 'his God. May the good that he has done be a sweet memory to all who have known him, and may the God of Love comfort the hearts of his loving wife and relatives in their hour of grief.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED

In Connection With the Mysterious Death of Woman.

New York, Aug. 1.—Three men were arrested last night through whom the detectives at first believed they had at least established the identity of the murdered girl whose body was found under the steps of an areaway in East Ninetieth street. The prisoners said when shown a photograph of the dead girl, that they recognized the likeness as that of a woman known to them. However, when later they were confronted with the body they declared that they had been mistaken and had never before seen the features revealed.

Since the body was found it has lain at the morgue unclaimed and the detectives have divided their energies between attempts to learn who the victim was and locate the murderer.
The men were held for further examination today.

The autopsy revealed the degenerate nature of the murderer. The clutches of his fingers broke the ligaments of both legs and the flesh of the neck.
The body was also hacked with a knife. It was shown that the woman had been eighteen or twenty hours without food before she was killed.

HELPED HER HUSBAND

Slav Woman Worked in Coal Mine as a Man.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 1.—Masquerading as a man and working side by side with her husband in various Washington county coal mines, "Joe" Povie was discovered to be Mrs. Susie Povie, when she was taken to a hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a mine accident at Cecil. The woman, according to her husband, Steve Povie, had been working with him three years. Her coarse voice and close-cropped hair deceive all as to her sex, while her strength equalled that of any of her male Slav companions. The woman's injuries were discovered to be not serious, and her husband was lodged in the county jail here, charged with violating the law in employing female help in a mine.
The woman acted as Povie's helper and was paid by him.

Controversy Taken to Court.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—The issue between the board of supervisors appointed by Mayor Taylor and the fourteen men named by ex-Mayor Schmitz for the same offices, was brought into the courts yesterday when Presiding Judge Coffey, on application of counsel on behalf of Taylor appointees, issued a temporary restraining order to prevent the Schmitz board from making any move toward assuming office.
It is alleged that Chief of Police Dinan intends to aid the fourteen unlicensed men in this raid upon the supervisors' offices and the court is asked to restrain them all from doing anything in this direction.

Plenty of Protection.

Belfast, Aug. 1.—Troops still continue to pour into the city, emphasizing the fact that the authorities are fully determined to grapple promptly with rioting, whether on the part of the striking dock laborers or the mulignous police, who are demanding more pay because of the extra work the strike entails. The fourth battalion of the Middlesex regiment has arrived, bringing a Maxim gun. A section of the Essex regiment will arrive early tomorrow morning, making the military strength about 7,000 men.

Governor Magoon Stops Duelling.

Havana, Aug. 1.—Duelling no longer will be tolerated by the provisional government. In consequence of a recent encounter between Cuban journalists in which one was slightly hurt, Governor Magoon has given orders to the chief of the secret police to exercise the utmost vigilance to prevent similar hostile meetings. Governor Magoon declares that if the present law is not adequate to check the practice of duelling he will issue a drastic decree.

Offers Reward for Raisuli.

Tangier, Aug. 1.—The government troops, under command of Calid Bouchta, have renewed operations against the lawless tribes. They surprised the village of Alkala, inhabited by Raisuli supporters, at daybreak and set it on fire. A brief fight ensued in which many were killed and a large number of prisoners fell into Bouchta's hands. The commander of the troops offered a big reward to any one capturing Raisuli, dead or alive.

A FAST FIGHT

Jimmy Britt the Winner Over Battling Nelson at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—Jimmy Britt of San Francisco gained the decision over Battling Nelson of Hegewisch, Ill., at the end of twenty rounds of as fast and pretty fighting as has been seen in San Francisco in many years.
At no time was either man in danger of a knock-out until near the end of the last round, when Britt's right and left swings and upper-cuts, which he landed one after another at will on Nelson's face, all but put the Dane down and out. Nelson did the greater part of the leading from start to finish, but he was outdone by Britt in cleverness, ring generalship and everything but gameness and ability to take punishment.

At the beginning of the twentieth round they shook hands and fought hard at close quarters. Nelson drove a wicked right smash to the jaw.
They mixed it furiously, Britt having the better of it. Britt drove Nelson to the ropes with several hard swings.
Nelson tottered about the ring helplessly. Britt went at his man like a maniac and almost sent Nelson through the ropes with a right flush to the jaw. The gong rang at this stage and saved Nelson from a certain knock-out. Nelson went to his corner vomiting and Britt was given the decision.

Coal Miners Strike.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—The executive board of district No. 5 United Mine Workers of America, which embraces the Pittsburg district, authorized President Patrick Feehan to call a strike immediately of the miners in this district, alleging that the Pittsburg Coal company has been violating the wage agreement repeatedly. Over 14,000 miners will be affected in the event of a strike.

Fair except showers extreme north portion. Friday fair.

Six pages today.

Owen McKee is confined to his bed on account of sickness.

Ed Dehority, of Elwood, will be starter at county fair races this year.

Miss Laura Trusler is very sick with flux at her home on North Harrison street.

Rushville, a horse formerly trained by Olell Maple of this city, was fifth in the 2:11 pace at Cleveland, Ohio.

Will Palmer has resigned his position in the Shelbyville furniture factory and will accept a position here.

A O. H. & D. train struck a large black dog yesterday afternoon which was afterwards killed by Officer Pea.

Amos Baxter, a hustling young citizen, has accepted a position as solicitor for the Indianapolis News in Rush county.

M. H. Fielding, of Glenwood, moved his hardware store into a new brick building Wednesday. The postoffice is also contained in the new store room.

The secretary of the City Board of Health says that arrests will follow in a few days if the property owners do not cut their high weeds about their premises.

A local business man stated today that at the rate the sewers are being constructed in Rushville at the present time that it will be two years before the workmen reach Main street.

Father O. F. Chelozzi, the black Abyssinian ex-priest, who will speak tonight at St. Paul's M. E. church, will leave tomorrow for Muncie, where he delivers an address Sunday.

Lenroy Cox and family will move to Anderson Monday, where Mr. Cox will run a livery barn. Mr. Cox has been for the past three years superintendent of the construction work for the I. & O. traction company.

Connersville Examiner: Miss Mattie Enyart returned Wednesday evening from Rushville, where she attended the marriage of Miss Ella Ross and James Personett, of Richmond. Miss Ross is the daughter of the late Dr. Ross who was a resident of this city at one time.

Dr. George Coughlin, who for eighteen years was in Rushville for one day each week, practicing dentistry, was in this city yesterday, the guest of friends. Dr. Coughlin is now in the interurban business in the South, and recently returned from North Carolina to visit old Indiana friends. The doctor is now living on easy street, and has an "easy pull."

A stray dog which has been making his home around the Pennsylvania depot was crippled by a freight train Wednesday afternoon. Fearing the dog would go mad, a crowd of excited men soon gathered on the scene and endeavored to kill the animal after chasing the canine all over the "West End," the dog was finally cornered in a cornfield and shot.

The answer of the Story of Jonah by Rev. J. L. Cowling, pastor of the First Presbyterian church which appeared in yesterday's Daily Republic can also appear in this morning's Indianapolis Star. Inadvertently a line of type was left out of one of the paragraphs yesterday and the sentence which read, "It teaches the love of the fundamentals of Christianity," should have been "It teaches the love of God, which is certainly one of the fundamentals of Christianity."

Consistency, thou art a jewel. Sister wears rubber gloves to keep her hands white when washing dishes. Then she washes her face and hands in cold hard water with ordinary soap. No wonder she has chapped skin in winter, and no wonder she turns red as a lobster under the summer sun.

If sister really cares, she can have a clear, fresh complexion by using Caeti Soap for the toilet, bath and shampoo. 10c of all dealers; 3 for 25c.

Miss Mary Porter, daughter of Jefferson Porter, is ill with tonsillitis on West Second street.

The condition of Mrs. Mary Brown, of West First street, who is very ill, remains about the same.

A happy party of Shelbyville autoists were in this city last night and "played the ice cream parlors out of ice."

Orders for the "Pony Express"—Lev. Wallace's package and parcel delivery—can be phoned to Wolcott drug store.

John Titworth appeared for the defense in the Nipp automobile case at Milroy yesterday instead of Marsh Stevens as stated. The case will be called again August 6th.

Everett Arbuckle, of Greensburg, entertained with a "bubble party" last evening. Next Monday evening he will be the guest of honor at a "water meion frolic" in this city. Strenuous social events, these.

Hubert Scott, the young man who was struck by an I. & E. traction car recently, died Wednesday. Scott was a cousin of Mrs. Carl Nipp of this city. Mrs. Nipp went to Greenfield today to attend the funeral.

A number of the Rushville workmen who left the city for New Castle, "went in cahoots," bought a tent, kitchen utensils and cots, and will live in camp, while employed in the City of Roses.

The Greek Candy Kitchen is now being enlarged. The parlors will be made to accommodate many more people, and a building erected in which will be installed an electric plant for lighting and running the fans.

Nightwatchman Tom Scanlan saw six boys get off a freight train which arrived here from the east at midnight Wednesday, and fearing that the young men were bad characters, ordered them to leave the city at once. The boys left on the same train on which they arrived.

Howard E. Barrett, who is writing the compilation of laws for the new Atlas and Directory, has just completed his synopsis of the new ditch law, passed by the last legislature. He says, in his opinion, it is the most practical ditch law we have had in many years. He thinks the opportunities for grafting are reduced to the minimum. Under this law the township trustee has charge of the cleaning out and repairing of all public drains in his township, and may be subjected to a fine of from $25 to $100 for failing to discharge his duty.

Miss Stella Downey is the guest of school friends in Lebanon, Ohio.

James E. Watson will go to New Albany Friday to deliver a Chautauqua address.

Miss Frankie Clark went to Connersville today, where she will be the guest of friends for a few days.

Miss Clara Bonner, of Due West, South Carolina, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Theo. Reed, on North Main street, returned from a week's visit with Greensburg friends and relatives yesterday.

There are a good many men in Rushville who never start out to buy anything that may require a little bargaining without lighting a cigar. It is a fact that a good cigar helps a smoker to think and is often the means of making a good trade.

But the cigar has to be a good one, like Wadsworth Bros., "Chicos," a cigar that smokes freely, with a pleasant flavor and whose ash does not commit the unpardonable sin of coming off in little flecks.

Anyone who wants a help to good thinking, should get a "Chico" from Hargrove & Mullin and see how it is possible to sell for 5c a cigar that is equal in quality to any 10c cigar ever made. Try one and see what an aid to thought it is, as well as giving the perfect enjoyment that comes from a good smoke.

Society News

Mrs. Ernest Neutzenhelzer, of North Jackson street, will entertain Friday evening in honor of Miss Maude Manford.

Miss Henrietta Coleman entertained Tuesday evening a small company of friends in honor of Miss Maude Manford, of Elwood.

Mrs. Edith Murray, of North Harrison street, will entertain a number of young ladies of this city at dinner this evening in honor of Miss Maude Manford, of Elwood.

A party composed of the Misses Henrietta Coleman, Maude Manford, Edith Hiner, Ethel Amos, Effie Izzard, Daisy Beale, Bessie Lee and Merle Broadus, of Connersville, and Walter Havens, Ferd Ketherford, Vincent Young, George Nichols, Bert Newkirk, Dr. Will Coleman and Dr. Harry Van Osdel picnicked at White's Mill, north of this city, Wednesday evening.

A large number of friends assembled at the Catholic church Wednesday evening to witness the marriage of Miss Katherine Ansberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ansberry, of West Second street, to Mr. Frederick Jones, of Chicago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Cronin at 8 o'clock. The attendants were Miss Mary Lyden and Thomas Ansberry. The bride wore a pretty gown of white Persian lawn with lace trimmings. Miss Lyden was also attired in white.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left this morning for Louisville, where they will reside.

The out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Will O'Connell, of Indianapolis, and Fred Walsh and Miss Bertha Walsh, of Louisville, Ky.

Amusements

The Star will have a change of illustrated songs tonight. Miss Wrennick will sing, "Sweetheart, Come Back to Me Again."

The shows at all three of the moving picture theatres were far above the average last night. The Vaudette presented a film with a good moral. The Grand's production of an Indian adventure was very interesting, and at the Star, the Gypsy romance which was shown there was a film full of life and activity. It happens this week that all three of the theatres have films above the average and the person enjoying moving pictures should not miss the shows which will be repeated tonight.

—Mrs. Nellie Sitgreaves, of Toledo, Ohio, came today for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred Clevenger. Mrs. Clevenger and her guest will leave tomorrow for a two weeks' visit with relatives at Osgood.
